A Program Tailored to your needs

3 weeks of full-time classes and activities in January or July, with weekends free to leisure in California

The “Advanced Topics in Project Management” program was developed in order to boost the scholar’s career in an international program without the necessity to break any ties with their home country. With three-week duration in January or July and two-week in September - the course was structured to be attended during summer or winter vacations with three free weekends in one of the world’s most touristic regions.

Equivalent to extension program, classes, and activities take place full time. In January and July classes occur from Monday to Thursday from 9am to 4:30pm*, with Fridays free for tourism. Scholars can also keep in contact with the business reality in the United States by taking a Business English Module with no additional cost to improve communication abilities in business contexts.

Groups are composed by professionals with proven professional experience and academic training at the postgraduate level. To ensure close contact between the teacher and the students, each group will have between 15 and 30 participants.

Certificates (see further details on the certification) are given to participants through their presence in the classroom. There are no exams, but students present seminars and weekly assignments.

The objective is to structure a very participatory and concrete program, in which students get involved in the development of practical activities.

*in September, the program is offered in two weeks, from Monday to Friday 9am to 6pm

Program Structure

The University of La Verne is an educational institution located in the city of La Verne. With more than 129 years, the ULV offers undergraduate, master's and doctoral programs in the areas of Administration.

Its faculty is formed by PhDs in Administration with extensive professional and academic experience.

Since 2003, it has been receiving foreign students annually in its programs, which now extend to the area of project management. Under the coordination of Prof. Ricardo Pitelli de Britto and Prof. João Guerreiro, the program will provide assistance to students in their preparation for the trip and the course, aiming at their full use.

Our goal is to offer international education focusing on the global professional.

Aware of the difficulties for the foreigner professional to attend a program outside their home country, we provide a set of information and documents to students, facilitating the process of organizing their trip.

In addition, ULV maintains contact with Hotels, reducing the total cost of travel to values below the market.

In summary, you will receive:

- Background Readings, aiming at your full preparation for classes, several weeks in advance.
- Invitations to participate in meetings with the group, sharing information and meeting the people with whom you will take the course.
- Guidance on where to stay at very affordable prices (see section Estimates of Expenses on page 4).
- Documents and guidelines for obtaining your American visa (if necessary)
- Suggestions for tours, tourism, shopping, and free technical visits on your weekends.
